- The SHUZI Dog Tag is designed for larger dogs and horses. Constructed from stainless steel, it provides all the benefits of NVT and easily attaches to nearly any collar or harness or can be braided into your horse's mane. The SHUZI tag also includes space on the back for engraving your contact information, should your pet become lost.
- The SHUZI Pet Collars made of durable nylon. They are adjustable with a plastic release clasp and a welded steel D-ring. Available Colors: Black and Lavender.

Benefits Reported by Pet Parents:

- Reduces Stress and Anxiety
- Increases Joint and Muscle Strength
- Reduces Allergies
- Improves Overall Health and Well-Being
- More Resistance to Harmful EMF Exposure- Animals are more sensitive to these fields than humans
- Provides balanced energy for better temperament

By now, you may wonder how your pet can become a more balanced; and healthier pet using the SHUZI technology.

How it Works: SHUZI Pet utilizes Nano Vibrational Technology (NVT), developed by an engineer from Georgia Tech University. Tested and Proven; (NVT) emits a subtle vibration which resonates on a healthy cellular level. This vibration energizes the red blood cells and allows them to work more independently and efficiently, while at the same time strengthening and synchronizing the natural frequencies of the biofield (body energy). Improving the blood flow and strengthening the biofield enables your pet to have more resistance and resilience to the effects of everyday stress, such as annoying pests, separation anxiety, environmental toxins in the air and water, including hazardous exposures to (EMFs) electromagnetic radiation from electrical wiring, appliances and other electronic devices in the home or office.

SHUZI Pets are mushrooming all over the world for those who want to provide quality health solutions for their pets to help them live in harmony.
